

Partner Commercial Proposal

A 90-day launch partnership proposal with three commercial structures: revenue share only, hybrid revenue share plus rent, or flat monthly rent with a three-month deferred start.

Executive Summary

Pin2Win is proposing a flexible launch partnership with the partner location. The purpose of this proposal is not to force a permanent structure on day one, but to agree on a practical 90-day launch model that allows both parties to prove demand, measure revenue, and decide what structure makes the most sense after real operating data is available.

Recommended launch approach

Pin2Win recommends beginning with a 90-day launch pilot using either Scenario 1 or Scenario 2. Scenario 1 is the cleanest launch option, while Scenario 2 is a balanced option if the partner wants some predictable monthly income.

Scenario 1

20% revenue share with no monthly rent. Best for highest partner upside and lowest launch friction.

Scenario 2

10% revenue share plus $500 per month. Best for balancing guaranteed monthly income with upside.

Scenario 3

$1,000 per month flat rent with the first three months deferred. Best if the partner prefers predictable rent.

Launch review

After 90 days, both parties review participation, revenue, customer response, and the best next structure.

90-Day Launch Pilot

The initial launch period would focus on proving customer interest in Pin2Win challenges, creating incremental activity around the partner's simulator bays, and testing the player entry, payment, leaderboard, and reporting workflow.

Pilot Goals

- " Prove customer interest in Pin2Win challenges.
- " Create incremental activity around simulator bays.
- " Test the player entry, payment, leaderboard, and reporting workflow.
- " Build a repeatable promotional rhythm for future events.
- " Review actual revenue and participation before locking in a longer-term structure.

Meeting positioning

We are not asking the partner to pick a permanent structure immediately. The goal is to agree on a launch model, prove demand, and review results after 90 days.

Partner Value

New revenue stream

Pin2Win creates a revenue opportunity tied to challenges, events, paid entries, and future promotional formats.

Repeat visits

Challenges give players a reason to return between leagues, lessons, or casual simulator sessions.

Low staff burden

QR-based entry and Pin2Win-managed reporting keep the workflow simple for venue staff.

Marketing content

Leaderboards, winners, and event nights create natural social and customer-engagement moments.

What Pin2Win Provides

- " Challenge setup and event structure.
- " QR code and player entry workflow.
- " Payment and player entry process.
- " Revenue tracking and monthly partner reporting.
- " Leaderboard or results workflow, where applicable.
- " Launch support for on-site promotion.
- " Basic staff instructions so the venue can direct players without adding operational complexity.

Scenario 1: Revenue Share Only

Under this scenario, Pin2Win would pay the partner a revenue share equal to 20% of qualifying revenue generated through the partnership.

Term	Detail
Monthly rent	$0
Revenue share	20% of qualifying Pin2Win revenue
Deferred period	Not applicable because no monthly rent is due
Suggested initial term	90-day launch pilot
Partner upside	Highest participation in Pin2Win revenue growth
Pin2Win benefit	Lowest fixed monthly operating cost during the scaling phase

Best Fit

This structure is best suited for a partner who wants to participate directly in Pin2Win's upside and is comfortable tying compensation to actual business performance during the launch period.

Business Rationale

This option keeps Pin2Win's fixed costs low while the business is scaling. In return, the partner receives a larger share of revenue and benefits more directly as Pin2Win participation, event volume, and customer engagement grow.

Scenario 2: Hybrid Revenue Share and Monthly Rent

Under this scenario, Pin2Win would pay the partner a reduced revenue share plus a modest monthly rent payment.

Term	Detail
Monthly rent	$500 per month
Revenue share	10% of qualifying Pin2Win revenue
Deferred period	None unless separately agreed in writing
Suggested initial term	90-day launch pilot
Partner upside	Combination of predictable monthly rent and performance-based revenue share
Pin2Win benefit	Lower fixed rent than a flat-rent model while still sharing upside with the partner

Best Fit

This structure is best suited for a partner who wants some predictable monthly income while still participating in the growth of Pin2Win revenue.

Business Rationale

The hybrid model balances risk and reward for both parties. The partner receives a guaranteed monthly amount, while Pin2Win maintains a manageable cost structure and continues to share revenue as the business scales.

Scenario 3: Flat Monthly Rent With Deferred Start

Under this scenario, Pin2Win would pay the partner a flat monthly rent of $1,000 per month, with the first three months deferred.

Term	Detail
Monthly rent	$1,000 per month
Revenue share	None
Deferred period	First 3 months
Rent obligation during deferred period	$0 rent obligated to be paid during the first 3 months
Rent start date	Beginning in month 4, unless otherwise agreed in writing
Partner upside	Predictable fixed monthly rent after the deferred period
Pin2Win benefit	Low-cost runway while Pin2Win activates the location and scales demand

Best Fit

This structure is best suited for a partner who prefers predictable monthly rent over revenue participation, while still giving Pin2Win a low-cost launch period.

Business Rationale

The deferred period gives Pin2Win time to build customer demand, refine operations, and grow revenue before taking on the full monthly rent obligation. This supports a more sustainable launch while giving the partner a clear fixed-rent model after the initial three-month period.

Scenario Comparison

Scenario	Rent	Share	Launch Structure	Best Fit
Revenue Share Only	$0	20%	90-day pilot	Highest upside and lowest launch friction
Hybrid	$500/mo	10%	90-day pilot	Guaranteed income plus revenue upside
Flat Rent With Deferred Start	$1,000/mo	0%	3-month deferral	Predictable rent after launch period

Decision Guide

If the partner prefers...	Best option
Maximum upside with no fixed rent during launch	Scenario 1
A balance of guaranteed rent and upside	Scenario 2
Predictable monthly income after a launch runway	Scenario 3

Reporting and Review

Qualifying Revenue

For purposes of discussion, qualifying revenue may include revenue directly generated by Pin2Win activity at or through the partner location, including approved challenges, events, competitions, player entries, sponsorship activations, or related promotional activity.

The final definition of qualifying revenue should be confirmed in the partnership agreement so both parties have a clear understanding of what is included, what is excluded, and how revenue will be reported.

Monthly Reporting

Pin2Win would provide partner reporting on a monthly basis for any scenario that includes revenue share. Reports may include qualifying revenue, revenue-share calculation, payment amount, and supporting transaction or event summary detail.

90-Day Review

- " Number of challenges or events run.
- " Paid player entries.
- " Revenue generated.
- " Partner payment amount.
- " Customer response and staff feedback.
- " Recommended next structure for the following term.

Meeting Discussion Points

- " Which scenario best matches the partner's preference?
- " Is a 90-day launch pilot acceptable?
- " What simulator availability can the partner provide?
- " What days or times are best for launch activity?
- " Who will be the primary partner contact?
- " What on-site promotion is realistic?
- " How should monthly reporting and payment be handled?
- " What launch date should both parties target?

Recommended Next Step

Pin2Win recommends selecting Scenario 1 or Scenario 2 for a 90-day launch pilot, confirming the operating details, and then converting the selected structure into a simple written partnership agreement.

Close

This gives both parties a low-risk way to launch, measure real results, and decide whether to continue, adjust, or expand the relationship after the first 90 days.
